'THAR' SHE BLOWS....

For a 3rd day, emergency response on Clifty Drive

Courier staff report

Wind warnings were out for this area of the Ohio River valley beginning late Monday. By Tuesday afternoon, the reality of the gusts that blew through were obvious in a number of places.

And, for the third consecutive day, police, fire and emergency responders were called to Clifty Drive. At about 2:40 p.m., Madison Police and Fire Departments responded to the Circle K on the northwest corner of Clifty Drive and Michigan Road after an awning collapsed on two vehicles.

Madison Fire Chief Bill DeVries said the first arriving police units advised that no vehicle occupants were trapped but that the east gas island pump awning had collapsed on two vehicles that were fueling. Everyone was able to get out, he said, and there were no reported injuries. During the collapse, gas lines were severed and fuel leaked, DeVries said, but the spill was contained to a small area. The pumps and all electric service were secured to the affected area as well as to the other pumps.

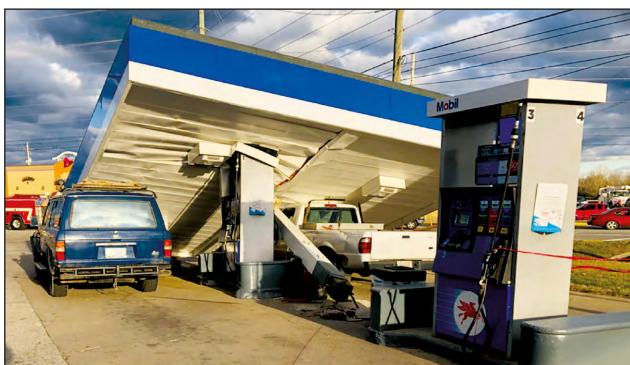

Because of the high-wind conditions, DeVries said, the vehicles were removed by stabilizing the awning, then slightly raising the awning enough to remove the vehicles. Responding agencies were Madison police and fire departments, KDH EMS and All Around Towing and Recovery.

DeVries said the emergency responders really wanted to thank a in that area yesterday afternoon for their patience while getting through.

An accident Sunday night in the 400 block of Clifty Drive took the life of D. Keith Hazelwood of Madison and four others were injured. Monday night, three accidents occurred within about an hour in that area.

Winds of up to 25 mph still are in the forecast for today as the temperature drops into the low 30s with the high expected to reach only 33. Tonight's temperatures will dip as low as 19. The wind is predicted to ease the rest of the week but the cold will hang on as the area heads into what is predicted could be snowfall by Friday.

The changing weather was visible everywhere yesterday from Madison's hilltop, where an awning landed on two vehicles, to the riverfront. (Photos courtesy of the Madison Fire Department and by Trenton Scroggins of The Madison Courier and Lauren Meyer of WKMNews)

It isn't uncommon to find along the riverfront in Madison small items left for strangers. Yesterday while taking pictures of the weather conditions on the Ohio, Madison Courier reporter Tali Hunt found these items with the attached note, which says:

I AM NOT LOST!!! I've been left here on purpose... If you are in the cold and in need...Please take me, I am yours...To help chase the chill away...If you can...help someone today...God Bless.

We don't know who left them or if there was an intended recipient. We asked some folks who are often on the riverfront and found they have occasionally seen similar items. It warmed a blustery, chilly day to see mankind offering a helping hand.

Trump pleads on TV for wall; Dems say he's stoking 'fear'

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Donald Trump urged congressional Democrats to fund his long-promised border wall in a somber televised address that was heavy with dark immigration rhetoric but offered little in the way of concessions or new ideas to break the standoff that has left large swaths of the government shuttered for 19 days.

Speaking to the nation from the Oval Office for the first time, Trump argued Tuesday night that the wall was needed to resolve a security and humanitarian "crisis," blaming illegal immigration for what he said was a scourge of drugs and violence in the U.S. and asking: "How much more American blood must we shed before Congress does its job?"

Democrats in response accused Trump of appealing to "fear, not facts" and manufacturing a border crisis for political gain.

Using the formal trappings of the White House, Trump hoped to gain the upper hand in the standoff over his demand for $5.7 billion to build a wall along the U.S.-Mexico border. He plans a visit to the border Thursday as he continues to pitch what was a signature promise of his 2016 presidential campaign. He addressed the nation as the shutdown stretched through its third week, with hundreds of thousands of federal workers going without pay and some congressional Republicans growing increasingly jittery about the spreading impact of the impasse. Trump will visit the Capitol on Wednesday to meet with Senate Republicans, and has invited Democratic and Republican congressional leaders to return to the White House to meet with him later that day.

He claimed the standoff could be resolved in "45 minutes" if Democrats would just negotiate, but previous meetings have led to no agreement.

For now, Trump sees this as winning politics. TV networks had been reticent

Indiana mom backing tougher bus law after children's deaths

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — The mother of three children fatally struck while crossing a northern Indiana highway to board their school bus supports legislation for tougher penalties against drivers who pass buses with extended stop arms.

Brittany Ingle, her husband and father joined lawmakers at a Statehouse news conference Tuesday announcing bills aimed at improving bus safety with steps such as prohibiting stops at locations where children would have to cross highways and requiring annual route safety reviews by school districts.

Ingle's 9-year-old daughter, Alivia Stahl, and twin 6-year-old sons, Xzavier and Mason Ingle, were killed in the Oct. 30 pre-dawn collision on Indiana 25 near Rochester. The driver who hit the children told authorities she didn't realize she was approaching a stopped school bus, despite the activated stop arm and flashing lights, until the children were right in front of her. She's pleaded not guilty to three counts of reckless homicide.

Brittany and Shane Ingle said they did all they could to teach the children about safely crossing the road from their neighborhood to the bus stop and hope that their tragedy leads to greater protections for other children.

"I'm just going to fight so no parent has to go through this," Brittany Ingle said.

A bill sponsored by Republican Sen. Randy Head of Logansport proposes suspending the driver's license for 90 days the first time someone passes a stopped school bus and a year for repeat offenders. It would raise the offense of not stopping for a school bus from a ticketed infraction to a misdemeanor and make it a felony offense to recklessly pass a bus and injure someone.

Head said another suggestion being considered is adding cameras to the bus stop arms to take photographs of violating vehicles.

"We want to provide law enforcement with more evidence so we can get more prosecutions and let people know that if they think they are going to save 10 seconds, 30 seconds, or whatever, to get where they are going that it's going to end up costing them a lot more than that if they break the law," Head said. Legislative committee hearings haven't said not stopping for school buses should be an offense comparable to drunken "We've been really lucky that we yet been set on the bills, but the family haven't had more fatalities," said the children's grandfather, Michael Schwab. "We can't depend on luck anymore."

Inspiring Purdue fan saluted at services

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Hundreds of dignitaries, sports figures and other people on Tuesday attended the funeral for Purdue University superfan and cancer activist Tyler Trent.

In a sanctuary of an Indianapolis church featuring many items of sports memorabilia collected by Trent, Indiana Gov. Eric Holcomb read a message from Vice President Mike Pence and his wife, Karen. Holcomb said the state and the nation were inspired by Trent's courage and bravery fighting the bone cancer that took his life Jan. 1 at age 20.

Many speakers cited Trent's deep faith. Purdue quarterback David Blough said Trent would want the evening "to be all about Jesus."

Purdue football coach Jeff

Brohm attended with many members of the Purdue football team wearing black jerseys.

The Boilermaker Special locomotive mascot was parked outside the church.

Trent was first diagnosed with a rare bone cancer at age 15. He entered Purdue in the fall of 2017 while undergoing chemotherapy and gained national attention in 2018 by becoming the adopted captain of the Boilermakers football team.

Trent became a social media star with his positive attitude and determination to live every day to the fullest.

He earned an associate degree in computer information technology from Purdue, which will hold a Wednesday evening memorial honoring him.

Crew mistakenly fells tree planted for 1976 bicentennial

Indiana

EVANSVILLE — Evansville officials say a tree-cutting crew mistakenly felled an oak tree planted for the nation's bicentennial. The 42-year-old tree was recently cut down by a contractor in Evansville's downtown across from the Old National Events Plaza, leaving behind a plaque stating that it was planted in December 1976 in honor of the nation's 200th birthday. Dave Rector, director of the Evansville-Vanderburgh County Building Authority, told the Evansville Courier & Press the contractor "jumped the gun" by felling the tree before getting approval from the building authority and other officials. Officials were considering removing the tree for a road-widening project but they hadn't made a decision. Rector plans to propose that the city plant a new tree in the same area once that project is completed.

Woman fatally shoots teen grandson, kills self

SEYMOUR — Authorities say a southern Indiana woman fatally shot her 15-year-old grandson before calling 911 to report what happened and killing herself. Police in Seymour found Wanda Huber, 68, dead Monday evening at the home she shared with her grandson Simon Huber. Seymour police Chief Bill Abbott told The (Seymour) Tribune that Simon Huber was flown to a hospital in Louisville, where he died Tuesday. Abbott said police believe "medical issues" may have been a factor leading up to the shootings, but he didn't elaborate. Abbott told The Indianapolis Star that Wanda Huber gave dispatchers her name and made sure they had her address before hanging up.

Officer accidentally shot in rush by dog

LAFAYETTE — Lafayette Police say an officer is hospitalized in serious but stable condition after accidentally being shot by another officer after a large dog charged them. Police say the round hit Officer Lane Butler in the back above her protective vest. The other officer's name hasn't been released. Police Chief Patrick Flannelly says the officers were fleeing an apartment where the dog broke out of its cage when the round discharged. Lt. Brian Phillips says the "very large and aggressive dog" was seized by animal control personnel. Police say the officers were investigating a criminal mischief complaint and a person wanted on a warrant at the

Woman shot parents before killing herself

MICHIGAN CITY — Police in northwestern Indiana say a woman fatally shot her parents and left their bodies in the home she shared with them before taking her own life. Michigan City Police Sgt. Chris Yagelski said the bodies of Barbara Evans, 71, Walter Evans, 73, and Tammy Evans, 48, were found in the home Monday afternoon by a relative who also lived there. Yagelski says the bodies "had been there for some time." A handgun and handwritten note were recovered from the home, but Yagelski declined to say what was in the note or provide a motive for the shootings.

No parole for man in dismemberment

January 11, 11 p.m.

INDIANAPOLIS — The Indiana Parole Board has again rejected parole for an Indiana man who was convicted in a woman's 1986 killing and dismemberment. The (Bloomington) Herald-Times reports the board last week voted unanimously to deny 63-year-old Robert E. Lee's parole request.

He appeared by video from the Indiana State Prison in Michigan City and thanked the board following its decision. Lee was convicted of murder in 1987 and sentenced to 60 years in the killing and dismemberment of Ellen Marks, a reclusive former Indiana University graduate student who lived in a shack. He was granted parole in 2012 after serving 25 years, but was returned to prison two months later after violating his parole by getting into a car and riding with a woman in South Bend, where he was living.

No smoke alarms in fatal house fire

BLOOMINGTON investigators say a southern Indiana house where a 2-yearold boy died in a weekend fire didn't have working smoke detectors. Riley Harden is a spokesman for the State Fire Marshal's Office. He tells The Herald-Times that investigators could not find smoke alarms inside the charred ruins of the Bloomington house where the boy died. Harden says the cause of Sunday's fire remains under investigation but foul play isn't suspected.

The toddler who died in the blaze has been tentatively identified as Kenneth Lane Jr. but confirmation is pending DNA test results from Indiana State Police. The boy's mother, two older brothers and a baby sister survived the fire, as did a livein baby sitter and her young daughter. Relative Ron Lanfair says the family had recently moved from Martinsville.

Indiana covered bridge damaged by truck

Marketing grants to 10 agribusinesses

FRANKFORT - Ten Kentucky agribusinesses have been awarded grants to enhance farm-to-school marketing. Agriculture Commissioner Ryan Quarles announced the recipients in a statement Monday, saying the funding will help farmers improve marketing to schools across the state. The farm-to-school program helps Kentucky schools serve local food to students. Each recipient will receive $7,000 after attending a farm-to-school workshop next month. More than eight counties had agribusinesses selected to receive the grants.

Teen admits to smothering infant

LOUISVILLE — A teenager who unexpectedly gave birth has admitted to smothering her infant daughter. The Courier Journal reported that 18-year-old Jasmine Wade pleaded guilty Tuesday to second-degree manslaughter in the 2015 death of Jazmine Berry. Although Wade agreed to serve seven years in prison, a judge will ultimately decide her sentence at a March hearing. The then-15-year-old told police she went to a bathroom while visiting her ailing grandmother in a Louisville her purse. Police discovered the baby about 12 hours after she was born. A medical examiner concluded Berry was premature and born alive.

Gov's race fundraising totals released FRANKFORT — A pair of Democrats running for governor in Kentucky have released fundraising totals. Andy Beshear said he raised more than $470,000 in the past three months, giving him a total of $1.16 million raised since announcing his candidacy last summer. That figure includes $20,000 of Beshear's own money plus another $24,000 of in-kind contributions. Rocky Adkins said his campaign raised more than $620,000 in less than two months. A spokeswoman said Adkins did not loan himself money for his campaign. Beshear and Adkins are two of the four announced Democratic candidates. The other two are former Auditor Adam Edelen and Geoff Young, a former state employee who has run for governor before. Republican Gov. Matt Bevin has said he will seek a second term.

Teen accused of trying to poison mom

PIKEVILLE — A teenager accused of trying to poison his mother by pouring bleach in her drink said he did it to make her sick, but didn't want her to die. WKYT-TV reported Justin Adkins, 18, was arrested Sunday. He was charged with second-degree assault-domestic violence and first-degree wanton endangerment. The station quotes Kentucky State Police as saying Adkins' mother told them her son had tried to poison her. The report also said a trooper could smell bleach in the drink. According to an arrest citation, troopers say Adkins said he poured "only a little bit" of bleach into his mother's drink in an attempt

Teacher seen dragging boy no longer at school

GREENUP — A Kentucky school district says a teacher seen dragging an elementary student on video no longer teaches at the school. Greenup County Schools Superintendent Sherry Horsley said in a statement Monday to WSAZ-TV that as soon as administrators became aware of the incident, they contacted the student's parents, got medical attention for the child and reported the incident to child protective services. The video shows a teacher at Wurtland Elementary School dragging a 9-year-old boy by what appears to be his wrists in October. The boy's mother, Angel Nelson, says her son has been diagnosed with autism and other disorders and has limited speech. She said her son was diagnosed with sprains to both wrists afterward. The school district hasn't released the teacher's name.

New judge executive in Nicholas County

FRANKFORT— Gov. Matt Bevin has appointed a new judge executive in northeastern Kentucky. Roscoe Higginbotham will be the new top county official in Nicholas County. The county's previous judge executive, Mike Pryor, died in December after a short illness. Higginbotham is a Marine and veteran of the Vietnam War. He is a retired federal auditor for the United States Air Force. where he performed financial and logistics management. Higginbotham will serve the rest of Pryor's term, and the next judge executive will be the winner of the general election later this year.

Books to broaden a child's perspective

Our thoughts and attitudes are shaped by all sorts of people and institutions. But our thoughts and attitudes can change through exposure to alternative ways of thinking. One of the avenues that allow us to think differently

Kendal Rautzhan is through reading books that nudge us in a different direction, such a s the books reviewed below.

Fourteen-year-old Finn doesn't really fit in. He's not comfortable with people and conversation, and prefers to spend most of his time either alone, with his dog Dylan, or his friend Matthew. Now that summer vacation is here, Finn's plan is to read as many books as he can and speak to fewer than a dozen people over the entire summer.

Finn's plans become altered when he and Matthew meet Finn's new neighbor, graduate student Johanna. Johanna is vibrant, friendly, and full of a zest for life. Johanna is also stricken with breast cancer, and in her fun and engaging style, talks openly about it. Although older, she treats the boys as if all three were equals, and strikes an easy, quick friendship with them, especially Finn.

It isn't long before Johanna's zeal for life has washed over Finn in many unexpected ways. He finds himself planting a huge garden for Johanna, helping to care for her after chemo treatments, and suddenly discovers his ability to positively connect with others as he helps raise money for breast cancer. Throughout, mysterious, uplifting notes about Finn are delivered to him by his dog, Dylan, and Finn begins view himself and life in a completely different light.

Master storyteller and award-winning author Gary Paulsen has once again crafted an unforgettable novel that is both deeply moving and peppered with Paulsen's signature humor. It is everything you would expect from Paulsen, and then much more. A story of family, friendship, love and compassion, Notes from the Dog is an extraordinary, powerful book. Beautifully written, perfectly paced, a cast of unforgettable characters, and a flawless blending of multi-layered themes, this one is a must-read.

Read aloud: age 6 - 12.

Read yourself: age 8 - 12. Walls are everywhere and come in all shapes and sizes. Some walls are made to keep farm animals safe. Other walls are used to display artwork. Homes have walls too. But there are other kinds of walls the kind that keep people separated from one another, physical walls and philosophical walls. These are unfriendly walls, blocking people from getting to meet and know one another. But one small voice can encourage others to join in saying "These are the walls we like least of all!" And when enough voices are heard, things can change and make the world a better place.

A powerful reflection on breaking down barriers, inclusivity and kindness, Walls combines spare, rhyming text with colorful illustrations to yield an important book for many ages, including adults.

"Thirty Minutes Over Oregon: A Japanese Pilot's World War II Story" by Marc Tyler Nobleman, illustrated by Melissa Iwai, Clarion Books, 2018, 40 pages, $17.99 hard-

Read aloud: age 8 - 12. Read yourself: age 9 - 12.

The United States was drawn into World War II in 1941 when the Japanese attacked Pearl Harbor, Hawaii. The US retaliated by bombing Tokyo. Several months later Japanese pilot Nobuo Fujita dropped two bombs outside Brookings - a small town in the US state of Oregon. Twenty days later Nobuo did it again in the same place. The bombs didn't harm anyone and did little to no damage. The war ended and many years passed. Nobuo opened a hardware store in a Tokyo suburb, lived a quiet life, but never forgot about what he had done. In 1962, a leadership organization in Brookings, Oregon, invited Nobuo to attend their Memorial Day festival as a guest of honor. Many were opposed to the idea, but many supported it. And Nobuo, riddled with guilt for what he had done, decided to attend the festival and apologize, and a friendship was born.

A true and moving account of people doing good and reaching across the divide, Thirty Minutes Over Oregon is a powerful story of forgiveness.

Full-time homemaker and mother has doubts over not using gifts

Dear Annie: Without trying to sound arrogant, I am smarter than the average bear. Not quite a genius but certainly up there. I won all kinds of academic awards in school and hold three degrees.

But my problem is this: I am now 48, the mother of two children with special needs. I have spent most of my life being their caregiver (for which I do not blame them at all because they needed help and I'm their mother) and a full-time homemaker. I feel disappointed somehow, as though I wasted my talent. I don't know how to describe it. I feel as though I was given this talent and I didn't use it to the fullest.

Do I have a responsibility to use my gifts? Did I let myself and/or others down because I didn't really? Do I need to set a goal for myself, and if

Annie Lane

No, you haven't let anyone down. You've raised two kids and made a loving home. So so, what? -

Conceited

Dear

Conceited:

please stop beating yourself up for not having pursued all of your dreams yet. You are only 48 years young. There is still plenty of time. Many famous writers and artists got started after 40 — though this isn't about chasing after fame. It's about honoring the part of yourself that wants to shine more light onto the world. I can't tell you what your specific goal should be, as I don't know what's in your heart. But Really Not you should make it a priority to carve time out of your day for creativity, by journaling, Really Not drawing, taking a class -- doing anything that nurtures the part of yourself that you feel heretofore has been underfed. You > won't be satisfied until you do. Dear Annie: I'd never had trouble with my eyesight until recently. My job involves staring at a computer screen for eight hours a day. That's a lot of blue light! My distance vision is still great, but my close-up vision is suffering. Would wearing prescription lenses while I work on the computer help? I want to be proactive about this so that I can prevent further loss of eyesight. — Blindsided by Blue

Dear Blindsided by Blue: You're wise to be vigilant about your vision. For many of us, good eyesight was one of those things we didn't know that we had until it was gone. First and foremost, you should see an optometrist. Generally, computer use causes myopia, or nearsightedness, so it's significant that you're experiencing farsightedness.

Aside from seeing an eye doctor, here are some tips: When you're working, be sure to look away from your monitor and at something in the distance for about 20 seconds and blink rapidly. Do this preferably every 10 minutes but at least every 20 minutes. There are web browser plug-ins that will remind you to take these

Keep your monitor at least 20 inches from your face.

Adjust the monitor brightness so it's close to the brightness of your surroundings.

Adjust the color temperature of your monitor so that it's warmer-toned, which will cause less strain. Continue to pay attention to any changes in your vision. Your peepers are precious.

STUDY REVEALS POSSIBLE LINK BETWEEN HERPES VIRUS AND ALZHEIMER'S

Dear Doctor: Pretty much everyone I know gets cold sores from time to time. Now I see a study saying that cold sores are somehow connected to Alzheimer's. Can you explain? Dear Reader: As researchers have worked to understand Alzheimer's disease, the results of some studies have suggested a link to certain infections, including oral herpes, or cold sores. Pneumonia, chronic inflammation and infection with spirochete bacteria, which causes Lyme disease and can be associated with some types of gum disease, were implicated as well. Initially scientists noticed a higher incidence of Alzheimer's among people who also reported having contracted one or more of these infections. It was unclear whether the infections themselves were linked to Alzheimer's, or whether people with Alzheimer's were simply more prone to infection.

Now, a new study draws a clearer line between Alzheimer's disease, a devastating form of dementia, and the herpes simplex virus 1, which causes cold sores. Published last fall in the journal Frontiers in Aging Neuroscience, the study cited being infected with herpes simplex virus 1, also known as HSV1, as a major risk factor for developing Alzheimer's disease. In the new study, which consists of a review of decades of research, including her own, a scientist from England's University of Manchester thinks that up to half of all cases of Alzheimer's disease have a direct connection to HSV1. An estimated 5.7 million Americans are now living with Alzheimer's, with a new diagnosis being made every minute. At this time there is no cure for the disease, and no reliable ways to manage it. When it comes to HSV1, between 50 and 80 percent of adults in the United States are believed to be infected with the virus. It is spread through contact with the oral secretions of someone who has an active infection, whether through direct contact or by sharing an object, like a glass or a toothbrush. Once infected, a person has the virus for life. However, much of the time it lies dormant. Some people can have the virus and never develop symptoms. Others can have outbreaks that range from occasional to frequent.

The thinking behind the link between HSV1 infection and Alzheimer's is that, as our immune systems weaken with age, the oral herpes virus is able to travel to the brain. Another piece of the puzzle is a version of a gene known as APOE, which plays a role in the manufacture of lipoproteins. It appears that the herpes virus either reactivates more frequently in people who are carriers of that particular gene variant, or that the reactivation is more harmful. Either way, the result is believed to cause changes within the brain tissue that lead to Alzheimer's. Considering how many of us get cold sores, these new developments can be unnerving. That's why it's important to note that these findings are still preliminary, and more research is needed. The very good news is that, should the HSV1 theory prove to be correct, it gives scientists their first real line of attack against Alzheimer's disease, in the form of antiviral drugs. It even opens the door to the development of an anti-Alzheimer's vaccine.

and has a rakish sense of humor. gave my favorite Hamman deal last week, but this one was impressive also. It occurred during the 1983 U.S. trials. After a competitive auction ended in three hearts. West led the club two: five, 10, queen. How did Hamman continue?

It looked too easy: Draw two rounds of trumps ending in the dummy, discard a diamond loser on the second top spade and concede one heart, two diamonds and one club Almost everyone would have done that — and gone down one. Hamman asked himself what would happen if the trumps split 4-1, which was more likely than usual given East's takeout double. Hamman saw that he could survive if clubs were 3-3.

Declarer cashed his club ace, played a spade to dummy's king, discarded his last club on the spade ace and ruffed a club in hand. Now Hamman cashed the heart king and played a heart to dummy's ace. On dummy's remaining club jack, he threw a diamond loser and conceded two tricks in each red suit.

Here's what's on the plates for Indiana's 2019 session

By SCOTT L. MILEY CNHI Statehouse Bureau

INDIANAPOLIS — Many legislators in both parties and in both chambers at the Indiana Statehouse might agree there needs to be a bias crimes law, fixes to child services and increases in teacher pay.

Getting there will take months with the current session to wrap up by the end of April.

The final round in presenting legislative agendas came Monday with announcements by Republicans in the Indiana House and by the Indiana Black Legislative Caucus, which consists of both state Senate and House members.

House Republicans focused on education, youth, workforce initiatives and veterans.

For teacher pay concerns, House Bill 1003 encourages, but does not mandate, local schools districts to shift dollars to classrooms.

The goal would be for districts to use 85 percent of funding for instructional expenses. House Speaker Brian Bosma (R-Indianapolis) said if all Indiana's public school corporations met the target, it could provide at least a 5 percent salary increase for teachers.

The Indiana Department of Child Services will annually require an additional $286 million over the next two fiscal years, which Bosma said limits budgetary focus to funding the state's key priorities, including K-12 education, which accounts for over half of the Bosma said many schools currently spend about 80 percent of state funding on instructional expenses.

But some districts' operational costs have soared. House Republicans said that, overall, only $57 of every $100 of state. local and federal resources spent on K-12 education makes its way to Hoosier classrooms.

"There's still some work to do to flush out details, but we're at least at a place where from your left pocket to your we're having good conversations. It appears they're very supportive and wanting to take some action," Indiana State Teachers Association President Teresa Meredith said.

In response, Indiana Democratic Party Chairman John Zody said, "House Republicans unveiled an agenda so out of right. It might feel good, but it isn't having a real impact."

The 13-member Black Legislative Caucus urged study of violent crime and a hate crimes law that defines classifications such as race, gender identity and disability.

The caucus also announced a bill to provide amnesty to Hoosiers who have had their driver's licenses suspended because of unpaid financial obligations.

STATEHOUSE AGENDAS

Here's a breakdown of previously announced agendas for the current Indiana legislative session:

Gov. Eric Holcomb

- Approve a bias crimes law
- · Identify resources to increase teacher salaries in the next two bienniums
- Adopt recommendations from August 2018 schools safety assessment
- Require Department of Child Services to implement recommendations from June 2018 report
 - Increase K-12 school funding
- Increase number of On My Way Pre-K students by at least 500 pupils
- Expand recovery housing for Hoosiers with opioid disorders
- Provide high-speed internet to unserved areas
- Build out hiking, biking and riding

House Democrats

- Improve teacher pay
- Expand pre-Kindergarten program throughout the state
- Enact a hate crimes law
- Protect the health care of people
- with pre-existing medical conditions Make it easier for Hoosiers to vote
- Provide a nonpartisan drawing of legislative and congressional districts.

Senate Republicans

- Operational reforms and new funding for Department of Child Services
 - Support education
- Improve school safety
- Advance workforce development

Senate Democrats

- Raise teacher salaries
- Protect medical coverage for pre-existing conditions
- Legalize medical marijuana

Trump pleads

about providing him airtime to make what some feared would be a purely political speech. And that concern was heightened by the decision Tuesday by Trump's re-election campaign to send out fundraising emails and text messages to supporters trying to raise money off the speech. Their goal: a half-million dollars in a day.

"I just addressed the nation on Border Security. Now need you to stand with me," read one message sent out after his remarks.

In their own televised remarks, Democratic House Speaker Nancy Pelosi and Senate Minority Leader Chuck Schumer accused Trump of misrepresenting the situation on the border as they urged him to reopen closed government departments and turn loose paychecks for hundreds of thousands of workers.

Negotiations on wall funding could proceed in the meantime, they said.

Schumer said Trump "just used the backdrop of the Oval Office to manufacture a crisis, stoke fear and divert attention from the turmoil in his administration.' In his dire address, Trump ticked off a string of statistics and claims to make his case that there is a crisis at the border, but a number of his statements were misleading, such as saying the new trade deal with Mexico would pay for the wall, or suggesting through gruesome examples that immigrants are more likely to commit crime. Trump, who has long railed against illegal immigration at the border, has recently seized on humanitarian concerns to argue there is a broader crisis that can only be solved with a wall. But critics say the security risks are overblown and the administration is at least partly to blame for the humanitarian situation.

Trump used emotional language, referring to Americans who were killed by people in the country illegally, saying: "I've met with dozens of families whose loved ones were stolen by illegal immigration. I've held the hands of the weeping mothers and embraced the grief-stricken fathers. So sad. So terrible."

The president often highlights such incidents, though studies over several years have found immigrants are

Trump has been discussing the idea of declaring a national emergency to allow him to move forward with the wall without getting congressional approval for the billions he's requested. But he did not mention that Tuesday night.

The partial government shutdown reached its 18th day on Tuesday, making the closure the second-longest in history, and continued on Wednesday. Hundreds of thousands of federal workers are going without pay, and government disruptions are hitting home with everyday Americans.

3 DAY-2 NIGHT

Trump was nearly halfway through his nine-minute address before he ever mentioned the border wall, describing it as a request from law enforcement rather than his own longstanding political pledge. He also suggested that his proposal to build the wall from steel, rather than concrete, was a concession to Democrats, although they don't see it that Trump sought to put the blame on Democrats for the standoff, saying they "will not fund border security." In fact, House Democrats passed legislation the day they took control of the House that offered $1.3 billion for border security.

And Senate Democrats have approved similar funding year after year.

Seeking to keep up pressure on Trump and the Republicans, Pelosi said the House would begin passing individual bills this week to re-open some federal agencies, starting with the Treasury Department to ensure Americans receive their tax refunds. The administration says it will act on its own to ensure the refunds.

Ahead of the speech, the White House sought to shore up GOP support on Capitol Hill, where a growing number of Republicans have been expressing unease with the extended shutdown.

Gary Armbrecht

Let Us Pause to Honor the Memory of

IN MEMORIAM

Gary Armbrecht, age 67, of Madison, Indiana, fortified with the Sacraments of the Holy Mother Church, died Saturday, January 5,

He was born on May 31, 1951 along with his identical twin Larry to Lucille and Orvall Armbrecht in Batesville, Indiana. "Gare-Bear" was a standout athlete for Ripley High School's class of 1969. While his high school golf game lacked precision, his baseball and basketball skills contributed too many victories. He met Maria Quentina Hooton when he was 16 years old and she was 14. Love at first sight. They carried on a long-distance, love-letter relationship between Versailles and Madison, Indiana until they married on August 28 1971 at St. Michael's Catholic Church. Just a few months after the birth of his son in 1973, Gary graduated from Marian College Indianapolis where he had played catcher for its hall-of-fame baseball team. As a freshman he tried out for catcher after assessing his low chances of making the team as a pitcher. Gary wanted to play ball ... and so he did for all four years. Catchers hold a special leadership position in the game of baseball, as did Gary in all his later community service.

PUBLIC SERVICE. In 1973 he began a 39½ year career of public.*

service with the Indiana State Board of Accounts. His thorough audits supported municipalities and school districts across Southern Indiana. He gathered many friends and colleagues through this work, except the few who committed fraud. His children always marveled at his ability to use a 10-key adding machine without ever looking at the keys. He accepted a call to run for public office and was elected to the County Council of Jefferson County, Indiana, serving 2014 to 2018. His deep understanding of government financing was valued by county staff and fellow council members. Gary transcended party-line politics, respecting everyone who appreciated the importance of a responsive and fiscally-responsible government for everyone's well-being.

COACH. Gary supported youth sports as a coach, parent and booster, especially at Pope John XXIII Elementary and Shawe Memorial Junior/Senior High School. His inclusive approach to coaching baseball, softball and basketball placed the long-term development of young people as effective team members far above winning. Hundreds of children and teenagers benefited from his highly-organized practices, recognizable voice and unwavering dedication to their potential. His fine coaching skills were clearly apparent in his sports play with grandchildren. He loved teaching them how to play and win with sportsmanship, in the same way he supported accomplished varsity athletes and gawky middle COMMUNITY VOLUNTEER. Like so many dedicated members of Prince of Peace Parish, he volunteered thousands of hours at festivals, concession stands, etc. to advance the excellence of academic and athletic programs for students at Pope John and Shawe. It is estimated that he poured 10,000 funnel cakes and coordinated 20,000 free-throw contest shots in the 80s and 90s. Consistency and commitment were hallmarks of his life. For about 35 straight years he led a volunteer crew for a Sunday night bingo at the Knights of Columbus Hall; he worked even when his voice was no longer able to call the numbers. He found joy in work that made fun for others. In 1995, the school community honored Gary with its Golden Shamrock Award for his constant dedication to its educational mission and for being an outstanding role model.

GOLFER. Full and active characterized Garv's life, and golf was one of the ways he filled days with fun. As a member at Sunrise Golf Course, he played quickly and often (possibly excessive at times); he putted lefty and hit all other shots from the right; he kept detailed scorecards with crafty notations for various statistics that factored into complex games and silly wagers. Nickel-and-dime bets kept play competitive, but golf was about challenging himself and spending fun-filled time outside with people he loved. Along with many other devoted couples, Gary and his wife Maria have walked over thousands of miles of green fairways together. He made three hole-in-ones but there were hundreds of on-target shots which prompted the exclamation "Call Larry!"

DEVOTED FAMILY MAN. Gary cherished family life at every life stage. In 1976, he and Maria moved from Indianapolis to Madison where they raised three children -- Eric, Diane and Kelly. He chose a work-life balance that allowed him to be present and engaged as a father and husband. As an uncle, he provided fatherly love and encouragement to many, especially Mary Kate and Emily Kugler whose father passed away in 1991. Gary made sacrifices to provide a Catholic education for his children, reinforcing how much he valued education and the principles of social justice. Building upon their strong foundation from Shawe Memorial High School, his children have earned degrees from Notre Dame, Saint Mary's children have earned degrees from Notre Dame, Saint Mary's College, Saint Louis University, Xavier, Purdue and Johns Hopkins. For the past 12 years, Gary has relished the role of grandfather. By flying kites, dealing cards, shooting hoops, hitting golf balls, and throwing batting practice, he won the hearts of nine grandchildren through active play. Even as his health declined, he showed his love with safety warnings, hugs, and fist bumps.

FAILING HEALTH. About 16 months before his death, Gary was diagnosed with amyotrophic lateral sclerosis (ALS). The disease quickly took away his ability to speak and eat, and it progressively limited mobility. But, he continued to communicate via marker board, iPad or text message. With the loving support of his wife, family and many friends, he accepted suffering and never complained. He may have lost the ability to play sports in the last few months of his life, but he continued to share his gratitude, humor and love, especially for his wife Maria. His 2018 handwritten Christmas card to Maria read "You are my everything." Gary passed away at the Kings Daughters Hospital in Madison, Indiana surrounded by family and friends.

RESTING NOW. Garv is remembered for his integrity, radiant happiness, devotion to family and service to others. For decades he remarked frequently that he had no need for naps or time to complain about fatigue. He would say, "Go outside. Be active. You have an eternity to sleep!" Rest well, Gary.

FAMILY LEGACY. He is survived by his wife Maria with whom he was married for 47 years, a wonderful journey that began as teenagers; three children and their spouses, Eric and Cheryl (Bini) Armbrecht of St. Louis, Missouri, Diane (Armbrecht) and Bob Wolfer of Cincinnati, Ohio, and Kelly (Armbrecht) and Jacob Perry of Mt. Sterling, Kentucky; two brothers and their wives, Larry and Brenda (McIntosh) Armbrecht of Versailles, Indiana, and Edward and Phyllis (Obendorf) Armbrecht of Cross Plains, Indiana; one sister and her husband, Dena (Armbrecht) and Gregory Cartwright two sisters-in-law Kathy (Hooton) Kugler of Cincinnati, Ohio and Deb (Fuller) Armbrecht of The Villages, Florida; nine grandchildren, Melanie Martha, Liesl Teresa and Philip Stephen Armbrecht, Bud and Gus Wolfer, Andrew Wyatt, Cecilia Marie, Anthony Jude "AJ and Emil Patrick Perry; and eight nieces and three nephews. He was preceded in death by his mother Lucille (Prakel) Armbrecht, died November 14, 1979, father Orvall Armbrecht, died August 22, 1982, mother-in-law Martha (Hill) Hooton, died April 1, 2003, fatherin-law Quentin Hooton, died July 9, 1986, brother Danny, died December 12, 2018, and brother-in-law David Kugler, died May 31

Arians to coach Buccaneers

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) - Bruce Arians is the latest coach entrusted to transform the struggling Tampa Bay Buccaneers into winners.

The 66-year-old came out of a one-year retirement Tuesday to fill the team's fifth coaching vacancy in a decade.

Arians replaces Dirk Koetter, who was dismissed Dec. 30 after leading the Bucs to 19 wins and no playoffs berths over the past three seasons.

Arians coached the Arizona Cardinals for five years, stepping down after the 2017 season with a 50-32-1 record that included one division title, two playoff berths, three seasons with double-digit wins and one NFC championship game appearance.

He is also a former offensive coordinator with the Indianapolis Colts who served as interim head coach in 2012.

Arizona hires Kingsbury

PHOENIX (AP) — The Arizona Cardinals have hired former Texas Tech coach Kliff Kingsbury, a move aimed at providing guidance for young quarterback Josh Rosen and resuscitating the worst offense in

The Cardinals announced the hiring Tuesday after a long interview earlier in the day. He was to be introduced at a news conference at the team's training facility in Tempe on Wednesday.

Kingsbury was fired after going 35-40 in six seasons at Texas Tech, but his teams were known for their high-scoring performances. His prize pupil in those days was current Kansas City Chiefs All-Pro quarterback Patrick Mahomes. Tuesday's hiring came barely a month after Kingsbury was hired as offensive coordinator at USC.

LaFleur to coach Packers

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — Matt LaFleur has been named head coach of the Green Bay Packers, the team announced Tuesday night, confirming multiple reports from a day earlier.

The 39-year-old LaFleur spent this season as offensive coordinator of the Tennessee Titans, his first calling plays in the NFL. Before that, he was offensive coordinator for the Los Angeles Rams in 2017, helping direct a high-powered offense with coach Sean McVay calling plays.

LaFleur takes over for Mike McCarthy, who was fired during the season following a stunning home loss to Arizona on Dec. 2.

MLB payrolls saw drop

NEW YORK (AP) — Spending on Major League Baseball payrolls dropped last season for the first time since 2010, a decline attributable to drug and domestic violence suspensions and a player retiring at midseason.

Even a year with flat payrolls is unusual. The only previous drops since 2002 were by $3 million in 2010 and by $32 million in 2004.

Teams combined to spend $4.23 billion on major league payroll last year, down $18 million.

World Series champion Boston had the highest payroll for the first time since the free-agent era started in 1976 at $230 million. A record 24 teams had $100 million payrolls, and the Red Sox figure was the lowest for the top payroll since 2012.

Nutley FTs nail down 38-36 OT win over Dragons

Madison entered Tuesday night looking for any momentum they could find with the state tournament looming at the end of the month. The Cubs not only found what they were looking for, but in the process, picked up their best win of the season.

Sticking to the defensive game plan and knocking down clutch shots down the stretch, Madison picked up a 38-36 upset of Silver Creek in overtime at Salm Gymnasium. The victory, just the sixth of the season for the Cubs, coming against a Dragons team entering the night 10-6 on the year.

"I think this is a good win for us moving into sectional," Madison head coach Sonja Bowyer said. "We really needed this win to show what we are capable of doing. We just need to pick this win up and run with it as we try to start getting Jade Nutley ourselves ready for sectional time." Up 18-13 at halftime, Madison quickly lost its lead to open the second half but continued to fight as the two teams battled back-and-forth the rest

Daesja Jay hit a pair of free throws with 3:54 left in the fourth quarter to give the Cubs a 31-30 lead and Jay stepped up again after an Alyssa Wright free throw, drilling a bucket to put the Cubs up 33-31 at the 1:43 mark. The Dragons responded 30 seconds later when Savannah Kirchgessner sunk two free throws to tie Jade Nutley missed a buzzer beater for the win at the end of the fourth quarter but the sophomore along with Jay propelled the Cubs in the overtime period.

Kirchgessner opened overtime with a free throw, giving Silver Creek a one-point lead but Jay finally broke through with only 52 seconds left and buried a jumper just inside the arc. Madison came up with a steal soon after and the Dragons were forced to foul with 14 seconds to go, putting Nutley at the line for back-to-back Nutley put the game on ice, knocking down 3-of-4 tries at the line to put Madison up 38-34. Silver Creek missed three-straight attempts in the final 10 seconds before Wright hit an uncontested layup at the buzzer.

"We hit some key free throws that we needed to hit in the end," Bowyer said of overtime. "We got a key rebound from Bailey Dyer there towards the end too. There was no fear in Daesja (Jay) tonight and she came

Trimble County started strong, finished strong and rolled to a 71-50 win over Owen County in the opening round of the All "A" Classic Eighth Region Tournament on Tuesday at

The Raiders jumped on Owen with a 15-3 run to open the game and survived foul trouble to keep the lead at 12 at halftime. Trimble then turned on the jets in the second half, leading by as many as 27 while cruising to the win.

For Trimble coach Ron Couch, it was a welcome performance after watching his team get destroyed by 48 points at Southwestern, the top-ranked team in Indiana's Class 2A, on Friday.

"After the Southwestern game, we had a little talk about fight. It's all about fight. That's just effort. It doesn't take ability, it doesn't take anything other than doing it," Couch said. "Everything needs to be a battle and we need to win every possession, every pick. Tonight, we went in with that mindset and that's what we did. And the thing is there's more there. We need to keep pushing and keep fighting."

Trimble County (6-8) showed that fight right from the start. Reece Webster took the opening tip and drove right to the basket, drawing a foul. A possession later, Evan Stevens jumped the passing lane for a steal and raced to the other end for an easy basket.

Baskets continued to come easy for the Raiders over the first eight minutes. Webster scored eight points and Logan Clifford had five as Trimble raced out to that 15-3 lead and 17-5 advantage after one quarter.

But fouls hit the Raiders — particularly Webster — in the second period and although Trimble was unable to

Carroll blitz routs EHS in 1st game with Supplee out

Carroll County blitzed out to an early lead and never looked back, rolling to a 70-42 win over a depleted Eminence boys basketball squad in the opening round of the All "A" Classic Eighth Region Tournament at Trimble County on Tuesday.

Playing without leading scorer Wyatt Supplee, Carroll County still had enough to overwhelm the Warriors, who suited up just six players for the game.

The Panthers scored the first 10 points of the game and they led 25-2 in the second quarter before head coach Brian Crank began subbing heavily. Eminence recovered to keep the game from becoming a rout but the damage had been done.

"It's another learning experience. Ever since I've been here we've never had a game where we're expected to win by a large margin. Usually we're the ones that have to fight from behind," Crank said. "We weren't the sharpest, but we've been flatter. I know we were supposed to win, but it could have been uglier and uglier."

Carroll County (8-6) was dealt a serious blow when Supplee broke his right hand after the Panthers' loss to Gallatin County on Friday. Supplee is scheduled to have surgery on Thursday and is expected to be out until at least mid-February.

Supplee was in the midst of a monster season. The 5-foot-9 junior point guard was averaging 23.2 ppg and authored a 47-point game two weeks

"He sent me a text and apologized for his actions. Really deep down that made me feel good because that's a good step for a kid that is as competitive as he is," Crank said. "The one thing that I told him was that he

Christian Academy of Madison started strong to score the first 10 points of the game and went on to outscore Christian Academy of Lawrenceburg (Ky.) in all four quarters en route to a 64-47 boys varsity basketball road win on Tuesday

In a game where the two teams combined for 16 3-pointers, Madison's Chase Hoskins had the hottest hand overall to knock down six treys and score a game-high 22 points for the Defenders. The Rams hit for nine 3-pointers overall — including four by Noah Farley en route to his teamhigh 15 points — but Madison outscored Lawrenceburg 7-2 at the foul stripe.

Luke Carter added 17 points for Christian Academy of Madison and David Kummer had 13 points and a team-high six rebounds to give the Defenders three players in double figures.

In addition to Farley's 15, the Rams got 11 from Camdon Henson and 10 from Jacob Gaines while Farley capped his double-double with a gamehigh 11 rebounds.

Madison, now 8-8, will be back in action Saturday night at Medora for the Ram's second conference game of the season. The Defenders are currently 1-0 in the Southern Roads Conference.

LEXINGTON, Ky. — After an awful start, Kentucky coach John Calipari was happy to see his team finish off Texas A&M.

Tyler Herro had 21 points, Ashton Hagans scored a careerhigh 18 and No. 18 Kentucky overcame a 10-0 deficit before holding off Texas A&M for an 85-74 victory on Tuesday night.

"The whole season is about building," the coach said. "We won a game. We won a league game. We won our first league game. Good start."

The Wildcats (11-3, 1-1 Southeastern Conference) definitely had room for improvement after Saturday's 77-75 loss at Alabama, disappointment that translated into an early hangover against the Aggies.

Kentucky started badly on both ends with four missed shots, turnovers and defensive breakdowns the Aggies seized upon

The Wildcats led 46-34 at the break before having to withstand a second-half comeback by the Aggies (6-7, 0-2), who got within 66-64 with 7:55 left. Immanuel Quickley answered with a 3-pointer and PJ Washington eventually followed with a three-point play for an 11-point cushion that held up.

"We started pretty slow and eventually we got it going a little bit," said Herro, who was 7 of 14 from the field with three from long range for his second 20-point effort in three games.

'Second half, we played a little bit better. Overall, we have to start games quicker and better."

Hagans made 10 of 11 free throws along with shooting 4 of 6 as the Wildcats made 15 of 27 (56 percent) after halftime to finish 52 percent overall.

"The Alabama game was tough," Quickley said, "but we bounced back. It felt extremely good."

The Aggies meanwhile were left with another game they played close but came up just Jay Jay Chandler and TJ Starks each had 18 points for Texas A&M, which shot above 50 percent for much of the game. The Aggies cooled off late and finished 48 percent.

POLL IMPLICATIONS

Kentucky should remain ranked as long as it follows up against Vanderbilt on Saturday. TECHNICALITY

A hard foul against Hagans led to a first-half scrum resulting in technical fouls for both teams. Christian Mekowulu and John Walker were whistled for the Aggies, while Washington was called for Kentucky.

Hagans made four free throws to make it 33-21.

BIG PICTURE

Shaky as the Wildcats initially looked, they settled down and soon led after 10 minutes. Though outshot much of the night by the Aggies, handling the paint 42-32 and outscoring their bench 23-9 helped them gain the edge and a strong bounce-back from Saturday's loss against the Crimson Tide. Redshirt freshman guard Jemarl Baker had four critical points along with three assists.

"Jemarl Baker went in and was just playing basketball," Calipari said. "He wasn't playing for himself, trying to get his (points). If a guy was open, he threw it to him. It changed the whole complexion of the game."

The Spartans (14-2, 5-0 Big Ten) have won nine straight. The Boilermakers (9-6, 2-2) had won their previous three games by a combined total of 55 points.

Purdue got off to a strong start, rattling Michigan State with pressure defense and taking an early 9-2 lead.

The Spartans cut down on their turnovers and held together as Winston, their leading scorer, made his first shot with 3:52 left in the first half. The junior point guard closed the half with nine points, putting Michigan State ahead 39-26.

Purdue's Carsen Edwards had a season-low 11 points on 3-of-16 shooting, including 2 of 13 from the 3-point line. Ryan Cline, the Boilermakers' second-leading scorer, had 12 points on 4-of-12 shooting.

Edwards entered the game averaging 25.5 points to rank among the nation's leading scorers.

"He's a very confident and talented player, but at times he doesn't let things come to him," coach Matt Painter said. "He has such high peaks sometimes he'll have a game like this because he wants it so bad that he starts

By STEVE HERRICK Associated Press

CLEVELAND — The Indiana Pacers found plenty to be displeased about after a victory over the Cleveland Cavaliers.

The Pacers were upset that they had to make several plays in the closing minutes to hold off Cleveland 123-115 and send the Cavaliers to their 10th straight loss.

first quarter and was ahead by 23 points in the third against the team with the worst record in the league. But the game got close down the stretch. 'We've got to be better than that — and we know it," Pacers coach Nate McMillan. "We got off to a really good start, then in the second half, we played the scoreboard."

Indiana led 38-14 late in the

Thaddeus Young scored 26 points and Bojan Bogdanovic had 23. The Pacers needed baskets by Young and Victor Oladipo, who had 17 points, to close out the win.

Cleveland (8-33) suffered another blow when forward Larry Nance Jr. hurt his right knee in the first quarter and didn't return. Nance will travel with the team to New Orleans, where the Cavs begin a sixgame trip Wednesday, and be re-evaluated.

Domantas Sabonis had 15 points for the Pacers, who have won seven of eight. Jordan Clarkson scored 26 points for Cleveland, which trailed 87-64 in the third quarter before cutting the lead to five several times in the fourth. Cleveland was within 115-110 with 1:24 to play, but Oladipo hit a 3-pointer from the top of the key and Young scored on a layup. "We played a good first 24 minutes, but the second 24 minutes were horrible," Young said. Clarkson scored 10 points in the final four minutes and the Cavaliers trailed 92-79 going into the fourth.

The Cavaliers had lost five straight home games by 20 or more points during their losing

"It was a great effort in fighting back, but there are no moral victories at this stage," coach Larry Drew said. "We have to be better."

Cleveland's last win came at Indiana on Dec. 18. The Pacers jumped ahead quickly. Indiana led by 10 points midway through the first quarter.

the Pacers made 16 of 22 shots in the quarter.

Alec Burks scored 19 points for Cleveland. Tristan Thompson had 15 points and 13 rebounds while rookie point guard Collin Sexton scored 14.

Nance appeared to get hurt when he was fouled while going up for a shot under the basket. He's averaging 9.1 points and 7.7 rebounds, and leads the team in assists, steals and blocked shots.

Drew indicated over the weekend that he'd make lineup changes, but decided against that because of the team's long injury list.

All-Star forward Kevin Love, who has played in only four games this season because of left foot surgery, said Monday that he's still weeks away from doing any significant on-court work.

Cleveland's trip also includes games against Houston, the Los Angeles Lakers, Portland, Utah and Denver.

NOT SO COOL

McMillan was unhappy the Pacers allowed 36 points in each of the last two quarters.

"We got cool-breeze and almost dropped a game that Bogdanovic had 14 points and we had complete control over," he said.

41 TO GO

The Cavaliers reached the halfway point of a season that has seen coach Tyronn Lue get fired after an 0-6 start, injuries to key players and several veterans being traded.

LOSER PAYS

Sexton, who played one season at Alabama, lost a wager to teammate Jaron Blossomgame, a Clemson alum, over Monday night's national championship football game. Sexton had to wear a Clemson windbreaker on the team's flight to New Orleans to pay up for the Tigers' 44-16 rout of Alabama. Asked for a comment on the outcome, Sexton would only say, "Roll Tide." TIP-INS

Pacers guard Corey Joseph, who was questionable with a bruised right thigh, scored 11 points. ... guard Darren Collison, also questionable with a sore right leg, had eight. ... Center Myles Turner missed his second straight game with a sore right shoulder. UP NEXT

The Pacers visit Boston tonight (TV: Live on FS Indiana at 7 p.m.).

will bounce back from it and he doesn't need to be on the floor to be a leader. A lot of these kids look up to him. He's just as important sitting next to me as he is on the floor."

The Panthers didn't need Supplee against Eminence. Junior Dalton Furnish started in Supplee's place and responded with a career-high 21 points, but Carroll's two other top players, Keishaun Mumphrey and David Duncan, played only limited minutes as Crank took the opportunity to get the rest of the his players plenty of game time.

"We got out of it what we needed to get out of it. Dalton got some minutes because he's going to be playing a lot, (Logan) Strickland got some minutes, Justin (Williams) got some minutes," Crank said. "We were trying to get them some more confidence and some flow for Thursday."

A total of 11 different players scored in the game for Carroll with Duncan adding 11 points. Bryce Butcher and Strickland had eight points each.

Bryce Sipes had 17 points and Josh Ruzanka scored 10 for Eminence (1-12).

Carroll will now take on Gallatin County in the semifinals on Thursday. The Wildcats scored on a last-second shot on Friday to beat Carroll by one and Crank knows that his team will be in

"It's a great rivalry game and it's always fun," Crank said. "I'm still confident in the guys that I got that they'll come out on Thursday and play. We had a chance to win Friday and Wyatt only played half the game (foul trouble). Every game we're short somebody because somebody's always in foul trouble but they step up. If they come in and do what they need to do, they'll be expand its lead, it was able to tread water and go into halftime with the same margin it had after the first quarter.

Trimble then re-established control in the second half. Webster, Ben Stevens and Will Kunselman combined for 12 points as the Raiders pushed the lead to 20 (40-20) and Trimble continued to play add on throughout the fourth, reaching 71-44 before Couch went to his bench.

Webster shrugged off his brief foul trouble to score 26 points and lead all scorers but eight different Raiders scored in the game, all of whom had at least four points, led by Grant Weaver's 10.

"We go as Reece goes but it's nice when everybody scores like that," Couch said. "It makes a difference because (opponents) can't just focus on Reece. It's a nice plus to have and it's nice to have people that have that mindset."

Isaac Smith scored 15 points and Noah St. Clair had 12 to lead Owen County (2-12).

The Raiders have already had an up close and personal look at Walton, losing 81-40 at home on Dec. 5 but Couch is excited to get a chance at a rematch.

"We still haven't played our best basketball. Hopefully, Thursday we can come back ready to fight again," Couch said. "We'll come back tomorrow and see where we are in practice and go from there."
